?A Checked Love AffairBy PAUL LEICESTER FORDAuthor of "Wanted—a Matchmaker," "Wanted—a Chaperon," etc.*

A clever story by this well-known author, charmingly illustrated in photogravure by HARRISON FISHER. This book will, undoubtedly, be one of the most popular of the season's gift books, inasmuch as in it are combined all the elements which go to make a most acceptable Christmas present.

Handsomely bound, 8vo, - $2.00

In Arcady

An Out-of-Doors Idyl

By HAMILTON WRIGHT MABIEAuthor of "A Child of Nature," "Under the Trees," etc.*

The latest book by this noted essayist, somewhat after his "Forest of Arden." What with the handsome illustrations in photogravure by Mr. WILL H. LOW, the beautiful border decorations by Mr. CHARLES L. HINTON, and the excellent typographical appearance of the book generally, this volume is certain to have a large sale.

Red-HeadBy JOHN URI LLOYDAuthor of "Stringtown on the Pike," "Etidorhpa," etc.*

This is a stirring tale of Kentucky Mountain life, and gives us a vivid picture of the way in which a feud is rekindled by an old legend.

The striking full-page illustrations are by REGINALD BIRCH, who has caught the local color wonderfully. Border decorations by the same illustrator.

NOTES IN SEASON.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have just ready an interesting contribution to literature in the volume entitled "Sappho—One Hundred Lyrics," by Bliss Carman, with an introduction by Charles G. D. Roberts. Mr. Carman, as already noted by us, has selected one hundred fragments of Sappho's lyrics, and has built upon them such poems as he imagined the originals might have been. The publishers have brought out the volumes in three editions, two on paper and one on vellum.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. have just ready La Farge's book "Great Masters," which, both on account of the pre-eminence of its author and as a piece of bookmaking, will take rank as one of the most distinguished art works of the year; "Man's Place in the Universe," by Dr. Alfred Russel Wallace, who was co-discoverer with Darwin of the law of natural selection; "The Boy's Second Book of Inventions," by Ray Stannard Baker, that will interest every American boy—and man, too, for that matter—who has a mechanical turn of mind; also, a work on "French and English Furniture," by Esther Singleton, which takes up all the distinctive styles and periods of furnishing and decoration in France and England, with 72 illustrations by H. D. Nichols. They will publish early next month Henry Harland's sparkling Italian romance, "My Friend Prospero."

HARPER & BROTHERS have just published Senator Albert J. Beveridge's book, "The Russian Advance," which directly bears on the most momentous world-question of the hour, the threatened war between Russia and Japan. The volume covers the Russo-Japanese situation now, in all its most important phases. Furthermore, Senator Beveridge gives an account of Russia from his own personal observation—the Russian laborers and business men; Russian religion in its influence on state affairs, and the actual progress of the country in civilization, etc., all being treated of in turn, and from an American point of view. The Harpers are also just bringing out a new one-volume edition of Mr. Howells's "A Hazard of New Fortunes," which was originally published in two volumes. It is one of the most popular of his novels, and is now issued at a lower price to meet the demand of a wider public.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just ready an illustrated edition of "The Colonel's Opera Cloak," by Christine C. Brush. This will be recalled by many as one of the popular books in the famous No Name series, brought out by Roberts Brothers over a score of years ago. It is a story with a novel idea, that of making the Colonel's opera cloak the hero of the tale. Unceasing demand for this novel has led Little, Brown & Co., who acquired Roberts Brothers' publishing business several years ago, to bring out an edition with numerous characteristic pictures by E. W. Kemble, the celebrated artist of negro character, and by Arthur E. Becher. Those who read the bright, clever and entertaining story twenty years ago, will welcome it in its new form, while those who have never read it have a pleasure in store. The happy-go-lucky, improvident, but generous life at the North of a Southern family in reduced circumstances is sketched with tender appreciation of its humorous and pathetic aspects; the negro servant and his little boy are admirably and faithfully drawn, and a pretty love story is embodied in the narrative.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

About 1836 a young Canadian girl fell in love with her Russian music teacher, who was supposed to be a poor exile. After travelling about with her father in the hope of forgetting her lover, during which time she saw Queen Victoria crowned, etc., she finally married the Russian, who turned out a rich count and an ideal husband and father. The book deals chiefly with her daughter's love history. She loved and married a Canadian minister, but her mother's ambition almost ruined her happiness.

The writer begins his report of his busy life with his first strike, which took place in Louisiana, Mo., in 1878. He began work as a printer and has always been connected with newspapers devoted to labor questions. In the period between 1880 and 1890 he spent much time in Leadville and other mining districts. His ideal is a high one and he has made untold sacrifices for it. Henry George especially desired that Mr. Buchanan's work be put before the people interested in true labor reform.

More than twenty years ago Dr. Hale went to Europe and left behind him a family of young people whom he had told that New England history had no ballads. He proposed that while parted they all should take certain episodes of New England life and try to supply the existing want. This book contains the ballads written during the years since elapsed. The short introduction to the ballads are full of folk lore and general information on New England conditions in the periods covered.

In compiling this work, the two objects which have primarily been kept in mind are the claim of poetry and the demand of the children; but, since the collection is intended chiefly for the pleasure of our boys and girls, the demand of the children has been considered first. For this reason, most of the old favorites which, because of their very familiarity, deserve a place in all collections of children's verse, have been selected, together with a generous quantity of nursery rhymes; it has been deemed wise also to include the most desirable specimens of recent juvenile poetry.

Although deaf, dumb and blind the outlook upon life of Helen Keller is one of cheerfulness and hope. She thinks the content must be first within ourselves founded on perfect faith and trust; then that we must look on the good and ignore what seems disastrous, and lastly that cheerfulness grows by steady practice. She disapproves of the view of life of Schopenhauer and Omar Khayyám. Her essay shows wide reading and a thorough acquaintance with the social and political problems of the day. Her style is terse and fluent.

Prof. Lee of Johns Hopkins University is the author of this history of our Civil War. "True" in his title does not mean absolutely free from error—but unprejudiced and non-sectional. Further he says of his work, "it is not written from the standpoint of a neutral. What is said of any section is said as a partisan of that section. I have endeavored when writing of the north to write as a northerner, of the south as a southerner, and in all this as an American upon whom all the states have a claim."

The author is Superintendent of the State Institution for the Blind at Austin, Texas. He believes the body is the dramatization of the soul and that by rigid self-control and the casting out of all un-beautiful thoughts, the countenance will grow more and more beautiful. With great detail he makes clear that the soul is the master-builder and that beautiful souls must build beautiful bodies.

Softley, Rev. E: Theism under natural law: as related to Old Testament criticism and to the theodicy of Lux Mundi. N. Y., T: Whittaker, 1903. c. 8+370 p. D. cl., $1.50. Advocates the belief in a Personal First Cause; a Personal Providence coming into direct contact with the minutest details of the inner life of man and the government of nature. Refutes the hypothesis of evolution as distinctly at variance with afore-said facts and experiences. The secondary object of the work is to specially refute the theologians who stand for the "higher criticism," notably the powerful group who voiced their convictions in "Lux Mundi" first published in 1890.

An epoch-making contribution to the philosophy of man's relation to the world he lives in. It aims to prove that earthly man is the only living and thinking being in the whole universe. The author bases his conclusions upon a masterly marshaling of the many facts of astronomy, biology and geology that modern science and discovery have put us in possession of. He holds that we and our world are the centre of the universe.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

DECEMBER 12, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE POSTAL SERVICE.

THE United States Post Office Department is now, with the possible exception of the steel corporation, the largest business organization in the world, its dealings having passed the $100,000,000 point with 1899, reached approximately $125,000,000 in 1902, and culminating in 1903 to a figure approximating $130,000,000. The British postal business, inclusive of telegraphic service, (which shows a deficit,) is within $80,000,000, yielding a net revenue of about $20,000,000 to the government. The United States postal service is practically self-sustaining, for the stated deficit, ranging in recent years from 5 to 2½ per cent., would be more than balanced if the government mail, or "franked" material, amounting to 12 per cent. of all mailable matter, were charged to the several departments, as was at one time done by the use of official stamps. The business is made by statute, under severe penalties, a government monopoly, in respect to letters or "first-class" matter, and its history and administration show the usual advantages and the usual disadvantages of a monopolistic organization. For the past few months public attention has been concentrated on the postal frauds which have honeycombed the department, involving some of its leading and veteran officials at Washington and ramifying through the country; but on the whole the postal business has been conducted with honesty and with good though not complete efficiency, and the President, in the direct, clear, and vigorous memorandum on the postal frauds recently given to the public, is right in saying that postal responsibility is not a party question, but is of vastly greater importance, beyond party lines. The present national administration, indeed, is to be praised for its exposures rather than blamed for responsibility in respect to the postal frauds. Civil service reform has already done much to correct the former flagrant abuses of personnel in the Post Office Department, and it is to be hoped that the extension of the principles of the merit system throughout the department, and the stern punishment of offenders in the spirit of the President's memorandum will ultimately result in taking the post office completely "out of politics," (except in the appointment of its official head, who becomes a member of the cabinet,) and making it a model business organization.

The just criticism upon the Post Office Department is not that a small proportion of officials have betrayed their public trust, but that, with an official head coming new to its complicated business every few years, and with executive and administrative officials whose longer experience and wider range of detail practically tie the hands of the Postmaster-General himself, it has naturally developed into a bureaucracy, whose members do not always appreciate the fact that post office officials are the servants and not the masters of the people who do business with and through the department. It would indeed be difficult under any form of administration to develop an organization adequate to handle the rapid increase of business, especially in recent years of development and prosperity; and this makes it the more important that the administrators of the post office business should lay emphasis on meeting the demands of their customers, the people, rather than on developing a red-tape system of administration and making the mistake of the technical bookkeeper who considers that a business should be handled for the sake of the bookkeeping rather than the bookkeeping for the sake of the business.

As the postal business has always been, in this country as in most other countries a government monopoly in which competition (as to letters) has been absolutely forbidden, it has never been practicable to decide whether the business is better conducted than it would have been in private hands. The only comparison possible is with the two rival telegraph organizations, both covering the whole country, and to some extent the telephone service, with respect to individual messages, and the express companies, partly in competition and partly in combination, with respect to the carrying of merchandise of the postal fourth class. Any comparison with these is of course academic, except as it may be used to show the possibility of improving post office methods. It is perhaps fair to say that the government service and the private services in general are about on a par. The modern telephone service is a marvel of organization, and would scarcely have been better in government hands; indeed, in Great Britain and in Sweden, the other leading telephone countries, which have governmental and private systems in competition, the private systems have on the whole been getting the better of the governmental systems. There has been more or less ground for complaint in delays in forwarding and in delivering mails, at the congested post office in New York and elsewhere throughout the country; business men, and indeed citizens generally, have become so accustomed to depend upon postal promptness that delays are doubly objectionable in this service. It is to be said, however, that there is similar delay, in congested seasons and at congested centres, in the express business, and that telegraph messages sometimes go wrong or fail. A great feature, however, of private business is that the organizations are responsible for any failure to do the business for which they receive pay, while the government cannot be held to pecuniary responsibility. Now that the postal business as a government monopoly is practically on a business basis, there would seem to be no good reason why the drastic and indeed absurd provisions against the carrying of letters over post routes (which includes all letter-carrier routes) by private agencies, should not be repealed, and private organizations left free to do carrier service, especially at letter-carrier offices like New York, where the burden and expense of carrier service are sometimes made the excuse for imperfect service.

The reorganization within the department which should be a useful indirect result of the postal frauds, the endeavor of the department to obtain from Congress a reclassification of mail matter within the second class, introducing a four cents per pound rate for monthlies, etc., the just criticism among publishers of the censorship which the Third Assistant Postmaster General assumes to exercise over their business, the reorganization of the Postal Progress League, committed against any increase of postal rates and in favor of a new rate for both third class and fourth class matter, under a parcel post system at approximately five cents per pound, the endeavor of the Society of American Authors for a lower rate of postage on manuscripts, and other considerations, make the present time opportune for thorough discussion of the post office system, and we propose to enter upon such a discussion in a series of editorial articles, which will endeavor both to state the point of view of users of the mails and to recognize the limitations under which Congress and the Department must and should act.

WHAT THE AMERICAN PEOPLE ARE READING.

The Outlook for December 5 contains a symposium on "What the American People Are Reading," to which John Cotton Dana, librarian of the Free Public Library of Newark, N. J., contributes "A Librarian's Experience;" George P. Brett, president of The Macmillan Company, gives "A Publisher's View;" Ernest D. North treats the question from "The Bookseller's Standpoint," and Martha van Rensselaer treats of "Reading in the Farm House." Mr. Dana estimates that the American libraries lend perhaps a hundred million novels in a year, with twenty-five million books of other kinds, and expresses the opinion that reading is still in its very infancy, and that the public libraries co-operating with schools will go far to educate public taste. Mr. Brett claims that there is to-day a higher standard of taste in reading, due partly to the increase in education among the people as a whole, and partly because of the real effort towards learning and information which the facilities for education have brought about. Mr. North seems to take a pessimistic view of his profession, complaining that "the public as a whole does not buy books," and if it does buy books it prefers fiction to the more solid works of literature, while Mrs. van Rensselaer finds that, on the contrary, as a rule, in the farmer's home circle the principal difficulty is to get the family to stop reading—solid literature being preferred to "unreasonable stories"—the range of the farmer's reading running from the Bible and Shakespeare to "A Fool's Errand."

This consensus of opinion, limited as it is, is only another straw showing that there is a steadily growing constituency of readers in the United States, and that, if the untrained readers are increasing in numbers, their growth is fully matched by that of people of fairly educated taste, with a constant tendency to exchange the poorer for the better reading. In the developing of this material the educator, the librarian and the booktrade as a whole will have a field to work that will prove profitable in every sense of the word.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT WITH CUBA.

THE following is the official text of the documents regarding the extension of international copyright to include Cuban productions:

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS,
COPYRIGHT OFFICE.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

The Act approved March 3, 1891, amendatory of the copyright law (51st Congress, 2d session, chap. 565, 26 Statutes at Large, pp. 1106-1110), specifically provides by its thirteenth section—

"That this act shall only apply to a citizen or subject of a foreign state or nation when such foreign state or nation permits to citizens of the United States of America the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis as its own citizens; or when such foreign state or nation is a party to an international agreement which provides for reciprocity in the granting of copyright, by the terms of which agreement the United States of America may at its pleasure become a party to such agreement. The existence of either of the conditions aforesaid shall be determined by the President of the United States by proclamation made from time to time as the purposes of this act may require."

Satisfactory official assurances having been given that in Cuba the law permits to citizens of the United States the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis as to the citizens of Cuba, the President, by proclamation, dated November 17, 1903, the full text of which is given below, has extended to the productions of authors who are citizens of Cuba the benefits of the copyright laws of the United States. Therefore entries can be made in this office of the titles or descriptions of literary, dramatic, musical, or artistic works the production of Cuban citizens, upon receipt of proper applications, titles, and fees. The statutory fee for entry of any article the production of a person not a citizen or resident of the United States is one dollar.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

A Proclamation.

WHEREAS, It is provided by section 13 of the act of Congress of March 3, 1891, entitled "An Act to amend title sixty, chapter 3, of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to copyrights," that said act "shall only apply to a citizen or subject of a foreign state or nation when such foreign state or nation permits to citizens of the United States of America the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis as its own citizens; or when such foreign state or nation is a party to an international agreement which provides for reciprocity in the granting of copyright, by the terms of which agreement the United States of America may, at its pleasure, become a party to such agreement;"

And Whereas it is also provided by said section that "the existence of either of the conditions aforesaid shall be determined by the President of the United States by proclamation made from time to time as the purposes of this act may require.

And Whereas satisfactory official assurances have been given that in Cuba the law permits to citizens of the United States the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis as to the citizens of Cuba:

Now, Therefore, I, THEODORE ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, do declare and proclaim that the first of the conditions specified in section 13 of the act of March 3, 1891, now exists and is fulfilled in respect to the citizens of Cuba.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 17th day of November, one thousand nine hundred and three, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-eighth.

[SEAL.]

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

By the President:

JOHN HAY, Secretary of State.

CRUSADE AGAINST BOCCACCIO AND RABELAIS.

THE cases concerning the seized books of Boccaccio and Rabelais came up for a hearing on December 8 in the second session of the Municipal Court in Boston, before Judge Wentworth. The complainant was Evan E. Davies, agent of the Watch and Ward Society, and the defendants were Walter H. Knight and George A. Moore, of the Old Corner Bookstore; Richard C. Lichtenstein, of Burnham's, and William L. Palmer, of Colesworthy's. The only evidence presented was from agent Davies and a police officer who assisted him in executing the search warrant. The defendants offered no evidence. The case was continued until the 11th inst., in order to hear arguments upon questions of law, for the consideration meantime by the court of the merits of the case, and to give the presiding justice opportunity to examine court decisions cited by counsel.

COMBINATION OF BOOK PAPER MAKERS.

It is announced that a combination is being formed in the West for the sale of all the book paper manufactured in the Northwestern States. Nothing is definitely known of the new organization excepting that it will be independent of the General Paper Company, though the same mill owners are interested. The terms of membership will require the manufacturers to sell all their paper through the common agency, at agency prices, though shipments are made direct from mill to consumer. It was stated at a meeting of the General Paper Company, held in Milwaukee on the 8th inst., that the business done through its agency during the past year amounted to $10,000,000.

OBITUARY NOTES.

HERBERT SPENCER, the last of the group of great men of science who gave glory to the Victorian era, died December 8, at his home in Brighton. Herbert Spencer was born at Derby, April 27, 1820. His father was a Wesleyan schoolmaster and his uncle a clergyman of the Church of England. Both were men of ability and liberal opinions and devoted themselves to the education of Herbert, whose delicate health prevented him from attending public school. In 1837 he began work on the London & Birmingham Railroad as a civil engineer. He spent five years in this capacity, when he returned home to pursue his studies in mathematics. In 1843 he went to London intending to support himself by his pen. He wrote a series of articles for the Nonconformist on "The Proper Sphere of Government," and also contributed to the Economist; but this work proved unremunerative and he was obliged to return to engineering. In 1848 he received a position as assistant editor of the Economist. While employed on this paper, in 1850, he published his first book, "Social Statics," which he was obliged to bring out at his own expense. Fourteen years were required to dispose of the first edition of 750 copies, one hundred of which were given away. The extreme views on the ownership of land expressed in this book were later modified by Spencer. His next work, "The Philosophy of Style," was the first scientific treatment of a subject which had previously been regarded as a purely æsthetic one. In 1855 he published his "Principles of Psychology," the beginning of his life work—the exposition of the doctrine of evolution as the basis of all philosophy. This work was received by the English public with no greater favor than his "Social Statics." The "Psychology" cost Spencer an attack of nervous prostration, which prevented all work for a year and a half and left him an invalid for the rest of his life. Spencer's publications had now cost him $6000—and he was a poor man to begin with—but he declined offers of assistance made to him by John Stuart Mill, convinced that his works would ultimately repay him. In 1857 he brought out "Progress, Its Law and Cause," and his philosophical system then seemed to have taken shape in his mind. The prospectus of a series of works, designed to explain systematically and from the standpoint of evolution the phenomena of nature and human existence, was published in March, 1860, some months after the appearance of Darwin's "Origin of Species;" but it is certain that it was written before Darwin's book was published and that it did not owe its inspiration to the "Origin of Species." The plan now made public called for a work in five divisions—first principles, biology, psychology, sociology and ethics. For this undertaking money was an essential which Spencer absolutely lacked. In order to gain a livelihood which his books had as yet failed to provide him, Spencer tried, with the assistance of Mill, to obtain a government appointment. Failing in this he decided to publish by subscription. At this juncture Professor E. L. Youmans became interested in Spencer's work and took up the project with enthusiasm, enlisting the interest of D. Appleton & Co., as his publishers in this country. In 1862 "First Principles" was finished. Then the war between the States interfered with publishing in this country, and it was not until 1864 that the two volumes of "The Principles of Biology" appeared. In 1872 the "Principles of Psychology," remodelled, was brought out also in two volumes. Then, not knowing how much longer he would be able to continue his labors, Spencer published a pamphlet on sociology and went on to the "Ethics," which he considered the most important part of his work. The first volume appeared in 1892, the second in 1893. The division of sociology was worked on at different times, portions of it being published throughout the twenty years from 1876 to 1896. Besides these works Mr. Spencer wrote a number of essays, his last work, "Facts and Comments," being published in May, 1902. For many years Mr. Spencer received little material reward for his mental labors and literary industry. In order to give to the world the fruit of his exhaustive investigations he was compelled to publish at his own cost, and the small legacies bequeathed to him were spent in printing his books, that he might keep faith with the small body of subscribers to whom he issued them. One part of his work—not the least valuable—he was compelled to give up. He planned a cyclopædia of social facts, representing the constitution of every type and grade of human society, past and present, stationary and progressive, and employed assistants in its execution. After eight parts had been issued he was no longer able to continue the employment of his assistants. He steadfastly declined university honors and refused membership in scientific bodies, because he considered that these things might consume hours which he could spend otherwise more profitably. Mr. Spencer died a bachelor.

THE REV. DR. HENRY CLAY TRUMBULL, editor of The Sunday-School Times, and an author of note, died in Philadelphia, December 8. Dr. Trumbull was born at Stonington, Conn., June 8, 1830. After he was graduated from the Williston Seminary he engaged in the railroad business. In 1858 he was ordained Congregational minister, and in 1862 he became chaplain of the Tenth Connecticut Regiment. He served for a time with his regiment, when he was captured and detained in Southern prisons until 1865. In 1865 he was appointed New England secretary of the American Sunday School Union, and in 1875 he became editor of The Sunday-School Times. He wrote a number of books chiefly of a religious and historical character, among which the better-known are: "Kadesh-Barnea," "The Blood Covenant," "Hints on Child Training," "Friendship the Master Passion," "A Lie Never Justifiable," "Prayer, its Nature and Scope," and "War Memories of an Army Chaplain."

THE REV. DR. JOHN LANAHAN, agent of the Methodist Episcopal Book Depository in Baltimore, Md., died in that city on December 8. Dr. Lanahan was born in Harrisonburg, Rockingham county, Va., in 1816. He joined the Baltimore Conference in 1838. In 1856 he was elected a delegate to the General Conference and was afterward chosen to every succeeding General Conference up to 1900. At the Conference held in Chicago in 1868, he was chosen agent of the Book Concern at New York, where he was associated with Dr. Thomas Carlton until 1872. He was appointed agent of the Baltimore Book Depository to succeed D. H. Carroll about ten years ago. Dr. Lanahan was an intimate friend of President Lincoln, who often called him to Washington for consultation. He was pastor to President Hayes, and President McKinley while member of Congress was a member of his church. Dr. Lanahan several years ago created considerable excitement in Methodist circles by charging frauds perpetrated on the Methodist Book Concern in New York.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

DWIGHT TILTON'S new story will be entitled "My Lady Laughter." The book, however, will not be ready until the fall of 1904. The C. M. Clarke Publishing Company are making arrangements to have the story specially illustrated.

JOHN H. BUCK, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., author of "Old Plate," published by The Gorham Company, is engaged on the history of "Old Pewter." He would be glad to receive descriptions of vessels with rubbings or impressions of marks on American or foreign pewter from collectors and others interested.

HOWARD V. SUTHERLAND is spending the winter in Pasadena, Cal., and is there engaged in literary work. Mr. Sutherland wishes, through the columns of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, to thank the trade throughout the country for the many courtesies shown him while acting as manager of Brentano's publishing department.

AFTER having published a number of books concerning his more distinguished brother and the pre-Raphaelite circle generally, William Michael Rossetti is writing his own "Reminiscences," which he will publish, in all probability, early in 1904. Mr. Rossetti, who is now in his seventy-sixth year, has been acquainted with most of the celebrities of his day, and his memoirs cannot fail to be interesting.

DR. DAVID GREGG announced to his congregation on the 6th inst., his acceptance of the Presidency of the Western Theological Seminary to which position he was elected a short time ago. For ten years Dr. Gregg has successfully carried on the work laid down by Dr. Cuyler. Dr. Gregg is the author of several books, the most recent of which is "Individual Prayer as a Working Force," the second edition of which is just published by Fleming H. Revell Co. He has also been appointed a delegate to the Pan-Presbyterian council to be held in England next year.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

MARTINUS NIJHOFF, 114 Fifth Avenue, New York, has been appointed American agent for the monthly review of the work and decisions of the Hague Arbitration Court, entitled La Justice Internationale, edited by G. Hubbard. He has also taken up the American agency for Deutsche Kunst und Malerei, an illustrated monthly journal devoted to modern art, architecture and artistic handiwork, now in its seventh year.

THE January Delineator contains literary and art features of exceptional value among which a number of pages are given to a description of "Parsifal," Wagner's music drama, and an interpretation of the theme by W. J. Henderson, with personal reminiscences of the first performance of the opera at Bayreuth, by Gustav Kobbé. The illustrations for this article are from photographs made of the opera. There are stories by Jack London and Kathryn Jarboe, and the fourth instalment of "The Evolution of a Club Woman," by Agnes Surbridge.

THE Scientific American for November 14 was a special issue devoted to printing and publishing, dealing with the mechanical sides of these industries. Some of the machinery and methods described will probably be new even to men who know these subjects intimately. There was an interview with Theodore De Vinne, an article on the economic side of modern printing, statistics, and descriptions of paper making, electrotyping, stereotyping, descriptions of the "autoplate," a machine for making newspaper plates, articles on linotype and machine composition, modern book, magazine, newspaper and job presses, lithography, ink and rollers, engraving, newspaper syndicates, binding, stitching and so forth.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BALTIMORE, MD.—J. H. Mediary & Co. are asking extension of one year from March 1, 1904, payable in equal monthly instalments.

BOSTON, Mass.—The Merrymount Press, (U. B. Updike,) has removed to 232 Summer Street, directly opposite the South Terminal Station.

GREENSBORO, N. C.—E. S. Wills will open a book, stationery and art goods store here on January 1. Publishers and manufacturers are requested to send catalogues and price lists.

PITTSBURG, PA.—A. Schulman, proprietor of the Pittsburg Book and Stationery House, has made an assignment.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—E. W. Porter is declared insolvent, and desires to turn over all his assets to Clarence W. Saunders as trustee for his creditors.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

SPECIAL WORLD'S FAIR COPYRIGHT.

ACCORDING to the Washington (D. C.) Post, Representative Tawney, of Minnesota, introduced a bill on November 27, providing a special copyright procedure for the protection of foreign art and literary exhibits and musical work at the St. Louis Exposition.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION, Washington, D. C., has published an "Index to the Literature of Thorium, 1817-1902," prepared by Dr. Cavalier H. Joliet, lecturer in analytical chemistry at Columbia University. The bibliography forms part of volume xlv. of the Smithsonian miscellaneous collections. (154 p. 8°.)

THE GROLIER CLUB, New York, has in preparation a "Catalogue of the Engraved Portraits of Washington," by Charles Henry Hart. The volume will contain nineteen photogravures from rare prints, and a frontispiece especially engraved in mezzotint for this work, by S. Arlent Edwards, from a portrait of Washington not previously engraved. The edition will be limited to 425 copies.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will publish early next year a new story by George Cary Eggleston, which is described as peculiarly fresh and timely.

EDWARD J. CLODE, New York, will publish next spring a new romance by Louis Tracy, the author of the extraordinarily successful novel, "The Wings of the Morning," who has just returned from India.

D. C. HEATH & Co. have in press for immediate issue Goethe's "Das Märchen," with introduction, notes, vocabulary and conversational exercises by Professor C. A. Eggert. Apart from the entertaining character of the narrative it is interesting as an illustration given by Goethe of his idea of what a märchen should be.

T. FISHER UNWIN will publish immediately under the title of "British Industries Under Free Trade" a volume of studies of the fiscal question as it affects the great industries of England. The book is edited by Harold Cox, secretary of the Cobden Club, and the contributors are leading representatives of the particular branches of trade of which they treat.

THE FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have just ready a volume entitled "Builders of the Beautiful," by the Rev. H. L. Piner, superintendent of the State Institution for the Blind at Austin, Tex., who has, in this work, turned aside from his ministry to those physically blind in order to help open the eyes of the mind and soul to the truths fundamental to all higher culture.

C. N. CASPAR COMPANY, Milwaukee, Wis., have just brought out five new designs in their series of Milwaukee post cards, showing the public library, the post office and custom house, the rustic bridge in Lake Park, the boat house in Mitchell Park, and the pavilion in Washington Park. The views are reproduced in colored lithographs by the Detroit Photographic Company.

F. A. FERNALD, formerly proprietor of the Columbia University Bookstore and of the New York University Bookstore, besides having two other branches, has sold out all his stores and removed to Buffalo. He is now one of the directors and treasurer of the Tropical Development Company, which has just been incorporated to plant orange groves and colonize lands in the Isle of Pines.

EASTMAN LEWIS, 152 West Fifty-fifth Street, New York City, will publish at once a new book by Louis M. Elshemus, entitled "Songs of Southern Scenes." The book contains the most important poems the author has written during his travels in Samoa, New Zealand and Southern Europe. In addition to these will appear many verses and fragments written at home not heretofore published.

E. F. BONAVENTURE, 6 West Thirty-third Street, has arranged an exhibition of fine bindings full of interest to bibliophiles. The work of Curtis Walters, Stikeman, and of the Adams bindery is prominent among that of the American bookbinders represented. Among the Europeans, Marius Michel Pomey, Lortic, David, Chambolle-Duru, Rivière, Zaehnsdorf and Ruban are represented by excellent specimens of their work.

JOHN LANE will publish shortly "After Worcester Fight," by Allen Fea, which will contain five contemporary accounts of King Charles II.'s escape not included in the author's "Flight of the King." The work will be illustrated with sketches by the author and portraits. Vizetelly's "Emile Zola: Novelist and Reformer," and the "New Letters of Thomas Carlyle," edited and annotated by Alexander Carlyle, will not be brought out until after the holidays.

GEORGE BARRIE & SONS, of Philadelphia, announce "the first definitive, authoritative, inclusive, narrative history of North America." The work ranges in territory from the Isthmus of Panama to the furthest north; and, in time, from the pre-historic period to the present date. Twenty volumes are in preparation, written by various hands under the direction of an editor-in-chief, each being complete in itself. Professor G. C. Lee, the editor, is to have free choice in the selection of advisers, editors and authors.

At Aquila, Italy, Signor d'Angelo, a librarian, recently noticed that his grocer sent purchases home to him wrapped in old papers belonging to a lawyer who had died not very long before. He sought out the tradesman, bought the papers in his possession, and on carefully sifting them had the pleasure of discovering in the mass a number of unpublished and important letters written by Garibaldi, Mazzini and other leaders of the Revolutionary period. It is expected that these documents will presently be printed.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish at once "Miniature Painters, British and Foreign," with an account of those who practiced in America in the eighteenth century, by J. J. Foster, author of "British Miniature Painters and Their Works," etc. This work is a comprehensive treatise on miniature painters, giving sketches of the careers and methods of the most famous painters, descriptions of famous collections, a chapter on the care and preservation of miniatures, etc. For illustrations it has reproductions of many acknowledged masterpieces, also many examples of interest never before published.

THE Bureau of National Literature and Art of Washington, D. C., will publish at once a work on the history of the White House and the hostesses who presided there, entitled the "Presiding Ladies of the White House," containing biographical appreciations, together with a short history of the Executive Mansion and a treatise on its etiquette and customs. The work is illustrated with symbolic borders and portraits in photogravure of the "first ladies" of the land, from Martha Washington to Mrs. Roosevelt. The text has been written by Lila G. A. Woolfall, assisted by Margaret E. Sangster, who writes an interesting introduction on the adaptability and individuality of the American woman.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY reports its most successful year in publishing since its incorporation. Chief among its most popular books of the year are the "Denslow Picture Books for Children," twelve in all. Nearly 300,000 copies have been sold. Cyrus Townsend Brady's "Sir Henry Morgan—Buccaneer," the first edition of which was issued on October 16, has passed into a second edition of 10,000 copies. Mary J. Holmes's "The Merivale Banks" has nearly reached the end of a 10,000 run. "Riverfall," by Linn Boyd Porter, (Albert Ross,) has passed into a second edition. "The Vice Admiral of the Blue," by Roland B. Molineux, is now in its third edition. "The Third Degree," by Dr. Charles Ross Jackson, bids fair to become one of the most popular detective stories of the year. The "John Henry" books have now sold over 350,000 copies. A new one to be added to the series will soon be announced. Their list now embraces over 700 titles, many of which are very popular books.

THE RESEARCH PUBLICATION CO., 1 Somerset Street, Boston, have published a unique calendar in the "New England Illuminated Armorial Calendar." The calendar is 9 x 14 inches and each sheet bears the coat of arms of one of the New England States, those of Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island being in the colors prescribed by law, the shields with heraldic charges represented in the borders that frame each sheet being correct reproductions of the arms of the families represented. There are numerous coats of arms in gold, silver, red, blue and green, representing such families as the Appletons, Bradstreet, Cotton, Dudley, Gilman, Hutchinson, Lowell, Pynchon, Prince, Sewall, Winthrop and others equally renowned. The seals of the leading universities and colleges are also given. Besides this feature, the sheets contain the calendar for each month and information concerning the arms and instances of their use, adoption, etc., and matter pertinent to the subject of the calendar, the retail price of which has been fixed at $1.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

A Word to the Bookseller

NOTE—It isn't our business to teach you your business. But we may be able to give you some pointers on selling our books. From time to time we shall make the attempt on this page.

¶ IT'S DIFFERENT, that's what they all say about

The Reign of Queen Isyl

By GELETT BURGESS and WILL IRWIN

¶ There are very few novels nowadays that are really different. This one is—and it is the most original and amusing kind of "different" you can possibly imagine.

¶ First of all, it is a novel, and then it is a book of short stories. So one side of it at least is sure to hit your customer's taste. The main story is about the Queen of a California Flower Festival who disappears on the night of her coronation; but this center tale is enlivened by about a dozen tales of adventure in love told by the separate characters in the story.

¶ The fun that packs the book from cover to cover is just its own kind, original and indescribable. One of the authors, Gelett Burgess, was the editor of the "Lark" which may give some idea of the humor.

¶ The Philadelphia Enquirer says of it, "The whole book is a well-spring of joy. It is the sort of book that rests the soul, renovates the liver and restores the soul." $1.50.

¶ One other book that we wish to speak of, though not so different, is quite as fresh and original. A whole new world, full of a new atmosphere and new characters is opened in

Sally of Missouri

By R. E. YOUNG

¶ It is a fresh, breezy, inspiring love story of the Zinc Boom times in the Missouri Ozark Mountains. There has seldom come out of the West so engaging a heroine as the wind-blown, hearty Sally, nor any man so delightfully typical of the semi-dishonest speculator class as Madeira, Sally's father.

¶ Here is a book that is Western through and through, and is a "sure shot" for you to recommend to anyone who has ever been West.

¶ The Boston Transcript says: "The story brings us very near to real life, for all its personages are striking and well drawn. It is fascinating reading—and those who take up the book are almost certain not to move until it is completed." $1.50.

NEW PUBLICATIONS OF THE ROBERT CLARKE COMPANY, CINCINNATI, O.

BARRETT. Abraham Lincoln and His Presidency. By J. H. BARRETT, author of a "Life of Lincoln." 2 vols., crown 8vo, cloth, gilt tops, net, $5.00. (Postage 30c.)

It is believed that the Hon. J. H. Barrett's long-expected new life of Lincoln will fill an important place in the list of biographies of this remarkable man, and will prove a notable contribution to the field of American biography and history. He contributes much new and valuable material, including unpublished letters, new anecdotes illustrative of Lincoln's character, and corrects many errors of facts and inferences that have gained general currency.

THE MAN WITH THE HOE. "A story throbbing with the true inwardness of life and love on the farm." By ADAM BLAKE. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

A picture of American farm life as it is to-day told in an attractive way that will interest both old and young. Humor and pathos are interwoven in the story, and around it all is entwined a love story of high literary merit.

TRUE. The cause of the Glacial Period. A book treating of the Greatest Undemonstrated Problem Known to Scientists. By H. L. TRUE, M.D. Cloth, illustrated, net, $1.00. (Postage 9c.)

Driving

By Francis M. Ware

Mr. Ware is one of our foremost authorities, and his former books have met with marked success. In this handsome and elaborate volume he has made the first comprehensive and authoritative work on driving in America. The binding of the volume is really an artistic triumph. Over 100 illustrations.

The Moon

By Prof. Wm. H. Pickering

This publication has been delayed for nearly a year, because during its preparation the author made quite important discoveries which necessitated a rearrangement of material, but which make it even more valuable and important. Contains the most complete and remarkable series of moon photographs ever secured.

How to Make A Flower Garden

This is the best and most beautifully illustrated book on the subject which has yet appeared. It is written by experts and covers every branch of the subject, containing many accounts of actual experiences in various parts of the country which are of especial value. About 100 charming illustrations from photographs.

Color Key to North American Birds

By Frank M. Chapman

This book is wholly devoid of technicalities, but accurate and authoritative. It describes the bird's plumage and notes, besides stating their range, season, etc. But its feature consists in the colored figure of each species which is given, making over 800 illustrations all told.
